Justin Njoka Muturi, Speaker of Kenya’s National Assembly is one among many prominent alumni of the University of Nairobi and particularly the College of Humanities and Social Sciences (CHSS).

Hon. Muturi joined University of Nairobi’s school of Law in late 1970s and successfully graduated with a Bachelor of Law degree in 1981. He later went to Kenya School of Law for a Post Graduate diploma in Law. The Speaker became an advocate of the High court of Kenya when he was admitted to the Bar in 1982.

When Mr. Muturi had an opportunity to visit his Alma Mata late last year, he was full of nostalgia of his campus days. “Everything was fun and I enjoyed a lot.” Remarked the Speaker. “I am very proud to be an alumnus of the University of Nairobi.” He added. Mr. Muturi was addressing an excited audience comprised of students, lecturers and non-teaching staff in a fully-packed Taifa Hall, late 2013. Hon. Muturi had been invited together with his counterpart, Hon. Ekwe Ethuro, Speaker of the Senate to come and share their views on the role of the National Assembly in the implementation of the new constitution (2010). Apparently, Hon. Ethuro was also an alumnus of the University of Nairobi. The two alumni had the time of their life as they engaged the audience in a hearty debate on constitutionalism and nationalism. In his presentation, Mr. Muturi challenged the audience to be at the forefront in upholding national values and observing the rule of law.

Mr. Muturi has previously worked in the judiciary as a magistrate as well as Member of Parliament for Siakago constituency. He has also worked as opposition Chief Whip and Chair of the Public Investment Committee in the 10th parliament.

As a leader and Speaker of the National Assembly of Kenya, Hon. Muturi serves as a role model for many University of Nairobi students. The College of Humanities and Social Sciences is proud of the Speaker and many other alumni who are doing the University proud.
