ABSTRACT.

This paper in detail seeks to address the challenges facing e-banking in Kenya using the multiple linear regression model. The study largely focuses on the challenges facing e-banking in Kenya and their impact on the economy of Kenya.

The paper reviews the extent to which e-banking has been adopted and why previous attempt to enhance the effectiveness of usage of e-banking has had loopholes which hindered achieving optimal benefits.